More construction for Secondary 646

With construction well under way on the first 15 km section of the Stoney Lake road, Alberta Transportation has announced that tenders will be called for the reconstruction of another 12 km stretch, to the junction of Highway 881.

In making the announcement, St. Paul MLA John Drobot said that the project "will benefit both St. Paul and Elk Point, as recreational, farm and industrial traffic from the two communities frequently travels on this section. I'm happy to see it on the department's schedule." Minister of Transportation and Utilities Al "Boomer" Adair added that the project is part of a program to bring Highway 646 up to standard between St. Brides and the junction of Highway 897 east of Heinsburg, and that "we hope as much work as possible will be done this fall before freeze-up."

The bell tolls on

A dozen retired teachers gathered early on the first day of school to pay tribute to their young colleagues "for whom the bell still tolls".

Mary Bennett led the group, assembled in the Empress Banquet Room, in a toast to the teachers of today, as several blocks away, the first bells of the 1987-88 school year pealed in the halls of learning.

The former teachers were then asked by Master of Ceremonies Sid Holthe what they were thankful for on this day, and what they missed the most since they retired. While many were glad their lives are no longer ruled by the bells, most miss the daily contacts with both students and other teachers. Mary Bennett noted that she was glad a Retired Teachers Association had been formed to "bring a bunch of us back together" on occasion.

A contest for the "best excuse" was held, with John Williams winning the red ribbon for his plea that he was unprepared because "my brother fell over a horseshoe, and I had to find the horse it came off, to put it back on."

A very happy non-school year to the entire group, who although they no longer have students to face each day, have certainly not lost their class!

BACK TO SCHOOL BUS JAM — Long lines of school buses unloaded their passengers Tuesday at Elk Point schools, for the first day of the 1987-88 school term, as students head back to the classrooms for another year.

4-H gears up for season

The 1987 Premier's Award winner, finalists, other senior 4-H members and 4-H leaders across Alberta met with the media last week to introduce 4-H to potential new members and leaders across the province.

4-H Summer Assistant Marcia Breikreuz, Derwent 4-H Beef Club member Laurie Zayac and Elk Point 4-H Beef Club member Dwayne Vogel visited the Review to give their impressions of the 4-H program.

Ms. Zayac has been in 4-H for 7 years, all in the Beef project. The highlight of her 4-H years came this summer when she was chosen as one of 10 Alberta 4-Hers who made an 11 day visit to the North West Territories. She has found 4-H to be "a great learning experience -- maybe you don't realize you're learning, but you do", and has found it provided opportunities for scholarships, trips and exchange visits. In addition to this year's trip, Ms. Zayac went with 4-H to Ontario in 1986.

Dwayne Vogel has been a member of the Elk Point Beef Club for 8 years and is looking forward to another successful year coming up. He has been to Selections, Counsellor Camp, Winter Camp and the Communications Festival within the past year, as well as serving a stint as a camp counsellor at Battle Lake. In 4-H for the "excitement, fun and learning", Vogel reminds potential members that "4-H is for everybody, not just farm kids", with over 600 clubs in Alberta and 33 projects reflecting a variety of interests.

The trio had enthusiastic comments on the many programs 4-H offers. Club Week, held each August at Camrose and Olds colleges helps senior 4-Hers to "know more about themselves and their goals, as well as how to communicate with their families", Vogel said. He went to Club Week in 1985. The "W4" or Way With Words Weekend, held each fall focuses on public speaking and communication, and helps "make you comfortable when you have to get up in front of a group", Vogel noted.

Conservation Camp, which Laurie Zayac attended two years ago, is held at Silver Creek Ranch west of Olds and includes study of soils, water, range and forestry. Winter Camp, Vogel

PROCLAMATION

On behalf of the citizens of Elk Point and Town Council, I proclaim Tuesday, September 8, 1987 as Literacy Awareness Day.

Many of our citizens are victims of the discrimination, oppression and indignity that illiteracy breeds. On this date, the LEARN Project will undertake to promote awareness of the nature and extent of adult illiteracy.

Literacy work symbolizes in a powerful way the unity of individuals and groups within a community and offers people from all walks of life the opportunity to help others learn, and to widen their horizons.

Members of our community are urged to support the work of the agencies and institutions offering adult literacy training (in cooperation with United Nations - World Literacy Day).

Signed Byron Mann,
Mayor, Town of Elk Point

Crop report: swathing general

August 28, 1987

There has been no crop damage this past week due to high temperatures, lack of rainfall, excess rainfall or snow.

The estimate percentage of each crop which is currently ripening or ripened is: Hard Red Spring Wheat - 100%, Barley - 70% and Canola - 100%.

The estimate average yield per acre in kilograms based on total acreage (acreage harvested plus that yet to be harvested) is: Hard Red Spring Wheat - 544 kg, Winter Wheat - 544 kg, Oats 771 kg, Barley - 653 kg, Fall Rye - 762 kg, and Canola - 350 kg.

Assuming favorable harvest weather, the estimate percentage of each grade of grain which may be harvested is: Hard Red Spring Wheat - 5% 2 CWSR, 75% 3 CWSR, and 20% Can. Feed. Barley: 80% 1CW, 20% CW. Canola - 75% 1 Canada, 15% 2 Canada, 10% 3 Canada.

The estimate total intended acreage of each crop as compared to last planted year is: Winter Wheat - 100%, Fall Rye - 110%.

Very little harvest during the past week due to spotty showers. Warm dry harvest weather is needed to bring harvest into full swing. Early yields on canola indicates yield is slightly better than expected which is a pleasant surprise.

LITERACY AWARENESS DAY — Was proclaimed by Mayor Byron Mann, for September 8, 1987. Behind Mann is one of the new town flags, which features an elk's head on a field of green, gold and blue.

Fun In The Sun winds up

By Katherine McCowan and Tammy Young

The 'Fun in the Sun' program is now in its last week. With saddened hearts we wind down the program by having a spectacular year-end party.

We planned festivities for the bash including three-legged races, pin the yoke on the fried egg and many, many activities.

The children were very fortunate in that they were able to enjoy two parties. The library program also had a final party and many of children were also included.

We would sincerely like to thank all the parents who donated their time and articles for crafts. It was a very enjoyable summer for us as well as the children.

Dick and Jane?

Have you seen what your children are learning these days?

At first glance, the primary readers look familiar. "Dick and Jane", it says. But Dick and Jane are a new generation, far removed from the kiddies of the same name we knew in our early schooldays.

Dick and Jane have a grandmother in a jogging suit, carrying a bowling ball. Their mother pours ready-mixed quiche out of a carton into a ready-made pie crust. They have Cabbage Patch dolls and inflatable kites, and use words like "awesome" and "user-friendly".

They still have Spot, their dog, but their dad now follows him around with a "pooper scooper". We couldn't even SAY things like that when we went to school, without tasting that old yellow soap.

Times are certainly changing.

It is good, in a way, that today's school books reflect modern technology. Today's children would view readers with stories about the McIntosh apple harvest and the Edmonton Grads basketball team with amazed suspicion, that this was history disguised as reading. Today, an "apple" is a kind of computer, and if you could afford to give one to the teacher, the school board would probably accuse you of bribery, while a "grad" is something you will get to if you make it through twelve years of school.

Some things, however, remain the same. The first day of school, is still an occasion to show off new outfits, even if today's feature baggy, nearly knee length sweat-shirts instead of buttoned-down Ivy League shirts with the skinny black pants.

It's still fun to talk over the summer with your friends, even if you spent it windsurfing or painting lines on the streets instead of going rollerskating or pitching hay on grandpa's farm.

And it's still good to be back in school, even though it seems like summer just got here. Have a good school year, everyone!

World Literacy Day

World Literacy Day, September 8, 1987, as declared by the United Nations, is being celebrated by literacy councils and groups all across Canada.

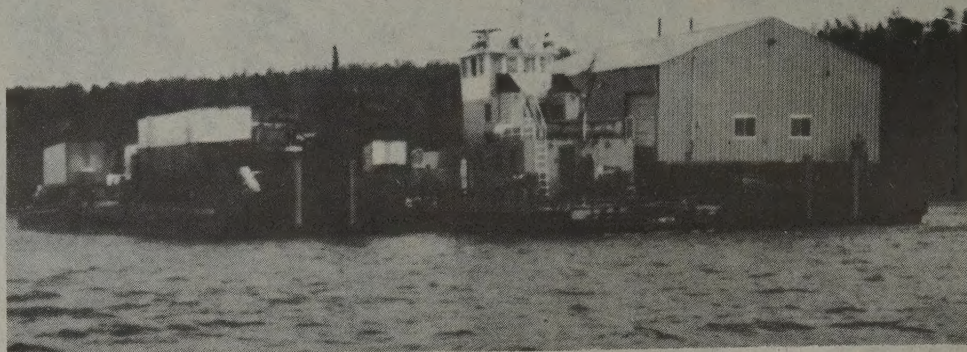

Presently there are some three & a half million adult Canadians who, according to the 1981 census statistics are functionally illiterate. They do not have sufficient reading skills to cope at a survival level. They are unable to fill out a job application, read directions on medicine labels or look up numbers in the telephone directory.

One in 5 people in the St. Paul area are part of these statistics. A group of trained volunteer tutors, who form the LEARN project are working in St. Paul to help these individuals.

In conjunction with World Literacy Day activities, the LEARN Project is planning a luncheon on September 8, 1987 to create more awareness. Pastor John McGregor, a LEARN volunteer will be the guest speaker. "We hope to train several more new tutors in the workshop over the next year and match them with students" said Heather Demchuk, LEARN monitor.

To volunteer, or for more information about LEARN, contact Heather Demchuk at 645-3270 / 724-4265.

WE SIGHTED A TUGBOAT — Surrounded by barges, loaded with 'everything,' slow-moving toward Ft. Chip. I. Magnusson

Alberta Trails

Trail to Fort Chipewyan

By Irene Magnusson

We spent Sunday, July 26, cruising down the Athabasca River, at a leisurely rate, reaching Mile 117 at 2 p.m. together with the emptying of the first gas tank. Mel changed over to the 2nd tank and we were soon on our way again. We had passed a tug boat herding about 5 barges down the river, loaded with cats, trucks, people, cars and other machinery.

There were patches of burned forest, and miles of the tall dark cliffs, which we took to be tarsands. There are innumerable islands, some treed, some with willow only, some bare sand or clay.

We stopped on a muddy bank, where Aline created a feast of weiners and beans. Soon underway again, we met a Coast Guard boat. Everyone we met waved to us - or at least replied to my waves - so it all seemed friendly. I forgot to take pictures of this boat. I did snap away at the dredging barge we met somewhere along there.

A brisk thunder storm, with rain and hail, attacked us later on, as we were going into a small bay, where we hoped to find gas for sale.

Waiting out the storm, we tried then to approach the area where the store was indicated on our charts, but although we could see the buildings, we ran into very shallow waters, and were about to leave, when the couple came down to shore and spoke to us.

Yes, they had gas, and a hose to run it in the tanks with. But the sticker was getting close enough to reach them. We ended up with John Weeks, Mel, Aline and myself out in water, pushing that reluctant boat as close to the 31 steps leading down from Weeks' store as we could, and the men then ferrying the gas by cansful over to the tanks. I went up to the store, bought a bag of cookies, and took a few snaps of the bay.

Gas is hard to get along that watery trail, and we were not unduly surprised to fork out $126 for 36 gallons of gas. That was posted on his filling station at $3.50 per gallon (or, he said, 77¢ per litre). He didn't charge for pushing us around in the water. John and Edith Weeks also have a small planing mill enterprise.

We awoke early and a bit dam after the showers, cleaned everything up shipshape and took off again about 9 a.m. We have passed the tall hills, shores are lined with tall grass and willows, still lots of trees out behind them, and the water looks muddier.

We started up Fletcher's Channel, as Weeks' had advised, but soon found it was a mistake. We ran aground, and had to all get out and push. As we came free, my short legs were having trouble finding bottom, and my lazy arms wouldn't pull me onto the boat, so Mel had to manhandle me over the stern. We were rather wet, but didn't mind, it was so sunny and warm.

We saw a couple of natives painting their boat, and spoke to them. They advised us to go back and follow the main channel, which we did, and should have in the first place, as that was marked. We live and learn.

Along this stretch of delta, where the river branches into several streams, we saw a lot of wild birds. These included teal, snipes, terns, baby ducks with mothers, ravens, white gulls, a marsh hawk and at least one bald eagle, and many more. We passed the outlet of the Tokyo Snye, and flew on over the smooth waters of the Big Point Channel, and into Lake Athabasca, following the markers, now floating buoys, together with small anchored spruce trees which stood well above the water, and were highly visible.

Once we got out in the lake proper, we made good time, turned at the right buoy and headed across the eight or ten miles of open water which would bring us in proximity of Fort Chipewyan.

But first we must see at least one of the high red rock islands Mel's fond memory had dwelt upon. We veered over to the first - or second - one we spotted, and sailed in as close as we dared. We were not really able to land, but with Aline standing guard that we didn't drift away, Mel scrambled up the steep rock, from the prow of the boat, and had a look. He took a couple of pictures for me of the fantastic lichens adorning the rocks, in several shades, which together with the pale grey-green moss made a colorful 'patchwork' effect. The most startling lichens were a bright orange, and underneath, the rocks were of a similar orange color. In places where the rock face was perpendicular, and wind, sand, waves and ice have polished the lichens away, there you see the rich brick colorings.

Yes, we did. We finally got to Fort Chipewyan! There are two long breakwaters, made of the most colorful rocks, and between is the long, strong pier, where the tugboats and barges dock and unload. We tied up to this, at first, but Mel soon learned there was a secluded docking area, with floating piers and good shelter, where we were allowed to park our boat free, and we went around the breakwater, and into a nice little area.

There are 13 floating docks, with a long walkway, and we edged in beside one, using it for homebase for the eleven days we spent on Lake Athabasca.

We immediately went walking, and found the Caribou Cafe and Lodge about a block away, just past the Hudson's Bay store - long since remodeled and expanded - where Mel had clerked way back in 1957. The store was closed, it being nearly 7 p.m., so we went to the cafe and had a pleasant supper and got a lot of information from the two girls working there, as the place was empty except for ourselves and they didn't mind chatting.

Later we walked in a fairly long circle around the town, and Mel saw a few folks he had known, who told him of others, and two of the guys came down to the boat later and visited for a couple of hours.

There is something about living on the water that makes it easy to sleep, and when the men left around 11 p.m., although still daylight, I was very glad to hit the sleeping bag.

We spent the first part of the day checking the beachside park, buying groceries, film and waiting for stores, etc., to open, which they did at 10 a.m. Around noon a former friend of Mel's, Jumbo Fraser, who works for the town, came by for a short visit. He told us of a lovely sandy beach, over on Bustard Island (commonly called Big Island), so we took off about 3:30 p.m. and went over there. In 45 minutes we were on a wide sandy beach, with sand dunes rising behind the smallish trees, and a row of the best skipping rocks I ever saw. So we used a few of them.

I found a few saskatoons, lots of cranberries, and some other little black berries, which the birds seem to relish. I tasted one, but it was rather watery. Mel and Aline had a swim, but I only waded, being too chicken anymore to go in the cool water.

Mostly I picked rocks, and a few clamshells, which surprised me, as I thought we had gone north of the "clam-line", but these were nice, and as large as any in the lakes around here. I didn't see any snail shells, though.

We returned soon to Ft. Chip, where Mel had arranged for a man he knew to come and take us sight-seeing around the town. He arrived about 8:30 and we all got into his crew-cab and he drove us, with running commentary, all over the place, airport, up to the TV/radio tower, out to the R.C. Mission, past pens of dogs; past his house, a cemetery, the Anglican church, up to the Cairn on the hill, and finally back to the Athabasca Cafe, where we all had coffee. Somewhere along the way we stopped to see an elderly fellow working on a scow, with a couple of other men, and nearby, a gang of men were roofing a new house, and, guess what - there on the peak it said ELK POINT TRUSS. "They come up on barges", I was told. "They use 'em all the time."

Today was Mel's 50th birthday. I think he enjoyed it.

More to follow.

Legislature report

By John Drobot, MLA

THE COMMONWEALTH PARLIAMENTARY ASSOCIATION CONFERENCE

I had the fortune this year to attend the annual Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Conference. The week long conference was held in Saskatchewan. Representatives of the Association's Branches meet annually at the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference to discuss parliamentary and political issues in an effort to improve the way parliaments work and broaden the understanding of Members of Governments. The conference is also a place to discuss specific problem areas of particular Provincial Legislatures.

Delegates from Alberta and Ontario debated, among other issues, the topic of free trade. I had the opportunity to speak about the Government of Alberta's position on free trade, with the United States. In a nut shell we are in favour of it, as free trade would be very beneficial for the producers of this province.

Other topics of current importance which were discussed included: native self-government and land claims; the Parliamentarian and the press, the Parliamentarian and questions of conscience, and the problem of conflict of interest; and the issue of immigration, "should our doors be wide open?"

The subject of education and curriculum was discussed at great lengths as well. The general consensus seemed to be that our education systems should continue to stress the 'basics'; writing, reading and arithmetic, to enable our young people to have a strong educational background with which to succeed in today's society. However, a new emphasis on Canadian studies was also introduced as an important element for our curriculums, along with more general knowledge courses such as life skills and health programs with a basis in good traditional values. Optional programs such as in the fine arts and social sciences were also stressed. The idea that curriculum development should be done on a regional basis instead of from a central bureaucracy.

The Speaker of the Saskatchewan Legislature, Arnold Tusa, and his committee are to be commended for hosting a very well organized, informative, and entertaining conference.

As part of "extra curricular" activities we visited the cities of Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Prince Albert. Delegates were in attendance from the Yukon, the North West Territories, all ten provinces, the Federal Government including some Senators, as well as delegates from the United Kingdom, the Cayman Islands and other areas.

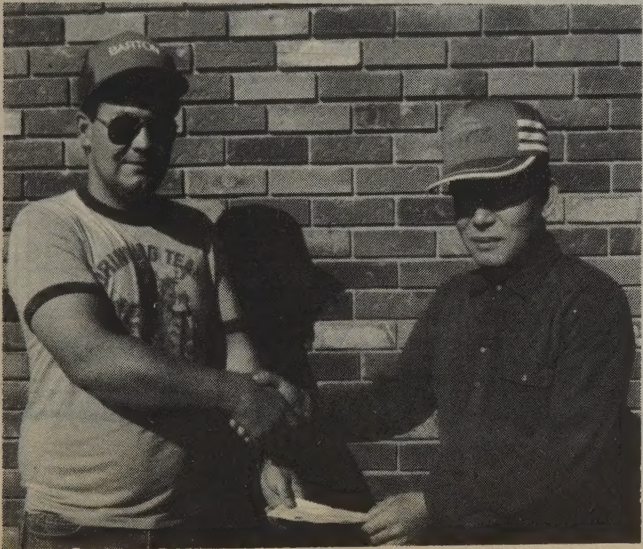

Most delegates commented on the large and diverse country we live in. Even the delegates from Eastern Canada were overwhelmed by the vastness of the land starting from the Regina Plains to the Parklands to the Aspen Forest to the Northern Spruce Forest and the lakes of Northern Saskatchewan.

The conference was very educational, and interesting. I enjoyed myself and am glad of having the opportunity to attend, the six days of discussion and debate was a great experience!

Please feel free to contact my office if you have any provincial government concerns: 503 Legislature Building, Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 2B6 or phone 427-1833.

Can we sell you on some swampland worth a billion dollars a year?

Canada's wetlands provide a summer home to nearly all of North America's 45 million ducks and other waterfowl — a resource worth more than a billion dollars and 40,000 jobs annually through tourism and wildlife related activities.

In addition, the wetlands are home to many other animals and are also important ecological buffer zones... holding water which can benefit surrounding areas and helping inhibit soil erosion.

Unfortunately Canada's marshes, muskeg and woodland swamps are losing out to human intrusion.

The Federal and Provincial governments have moved to establish bird sanctuaries and wildlife conservation areas; a total of 1,000 square kilometers are now protected.

But there's much more to be done.

To find out how important your personal assistance can be, please contact your Federal or Provincial wildlife or natural resources department or a citizen's conservation group.

Remember, an investment of your time or money now will pay big dividends in Canada's future.

Forestry management display

Five dioramas depicting forest management in Alberta's past, present and future, along with a forest ranger's cabin of 70 years ago, a relief map of Alberta's Green Area, and other displays housed in a long semitrailer drew numerous visitors Friday and Saturday in Elk Point, on this stop of the "Alberta's Managed Forests Tour".

The mobile exhibit trailer began its second season of visits to Alberta communities in Edson on May 3 and has visited 27 towns across northern Alberta before coming to Elk Point. Last year, 28,000 people viewed the displays at 41 stops along the Eastern Slopes of the Rockies. From here, the trailer goes to St. Paul, Fort McMurray and Smoky Lake, ending the season on September 9.

The display is a joint project of the Canadian Forestry Service and Alberta Forest Service, and is operated and managed by the latter group.

Dioramas are the focal part of the unit. The first shows a logging site along an Alberta river in the 1880s, with horses skidding logs to the river to be floated to a sawmill downstream. The next shows modern logging, with felled trees being moved with a mechanical skidder to the roadside, to be loaded on logging trucks, and the land already being prepared for reforestation. Regeneration and forest stand management techniques are shown in the third diorama, while the fourth shows a regenerated forest, with foresters fighting the threats of fire, insects and disease. The final diorama is of a forest in the future with genetically superior tree stock, carefully spaced, fertilized and cared for, providing a healthy habitat for wildlife and a recreation area for humans.

Clandonald News

By Shirley Osinchuk

After the Clandonald Fair, the donations to the Edmonton Tornado Disaster Fund were forwarded to the Red Cross to assist tornado victims. Fairgoers put $79.00 into the box provided.

Congratulations to Mary and Reg Lovell, who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary with family and friends recently.

This July, Alex Kurash was appointed the Double A Conservation and Hunter Education instructor for the Lloydminster area. This includes Clandonald, Elk Point, Tully Lake and Marwayne areas. Anyone wanting to hunt this fall must show a hunting license from last year, a Hunter Education Certificate, or proof of having passed the First Time Hunter's test. Alex has these tests at home, and will give them by appointment. The test takes about one hour to write. Call for an appointment, 853-2613.

We offer our sincere sympathy to Clare Brodwin and family, on the sudden passing of Tom, on Aug. 28. Our condolences to all the many relatives and friends of the Brodwin and Lawrence families.

The Rusylvia Slowpitch Tournament got off to a good start on Friday, Aug. 14, with the required twenty-four teams and a waiting list. Saturday went well, except for one downpour, but early Sunday afternoon, the skies opened and poured so hard that it had to be cancelled. That was the last Rusylvia tournament for the season.

Aug. 21 was Cliff Cunningham's 81st birthday. On the 22nd he and Marge hosted a lawn party at their home in Dewberry, followed by entertainment and lunch at the Senior Citizens Centre. Cliff reversed the usual trend and gave gifts of Western Lottery tickets to everyone who entertained and to all the people there who had birthdays or anniversaries in August.

Mrs. Wallington, from Vermilion, was there to congratulate Cliff, and to give some of her favorite recitations.

Cliff gave a singing recitation "I'm A Little Too Small". Tanya and Landon Bowman, accompanied by their mother Loretta, played violin solos, then Landon played again for Cliff to dance. Peggy Garnier got the group going with her favorite, the "Bird Dance", then a delicious lunch was served, topped off with a piece of "81st birthday" cake. Congratulations, Cliff, we'll be at your 82nd.

Congratulations and very best wishes to Connie (Lawrence) and Keith Wilkinson who were married on Saturday, Aug. 29.

With the weather looking better for harvest, we wish everyone a safe and prosperous fall. Regular club meetings will be starting soon. Please call me at 853-2098 and let me know dates in time to include them in the "News" a week ahead of time.

Church times this month are 11 a.m. at the Catholic Church on Sept. 6 and 20, and 9 a.m. on Sept. 13 and 27. The time at the Bible Fellowship Church is 11 a.m. each Sunday. You are welcome at either church.

Seafood--fast, fabulous, fuss-free

The news that "company's coming" need not mean a flurry of last minute meal preparation. Seafood can help you entertain with flair and without fuss on those occasions when someone drops by for a minute and remains for dinner or even when you have the "munchies" and you don't feel like a whole mess of work, seafood is the answer. Seafood can be served anytime, as a delicious main dish, a hearty snack or as a tasty appetizer.

With the ever growing popularity of fish and seafood, with its compact weight, limited calories and high nutritive value it is a most excellent buy and while most everyone will gorge themselves on seafood in restaurants or when they travel on vacation, most tend to be afraid of preparing this fabulous food at home.

High Arctic Fish & Seafoods can really help you there. They have put together a most fantastic array of cookbooks and recipe handouts and have moved into a whole array of new and exciting prepared fish and seafood products ready for baking, deep frying or even microwaving. Most fish or seafood products take only a minimum amount of time to prepare or cook. So why not entertain with flair, spend a lot more time with your company or just enjoy more relaxation after a hard day's work. Seafood should be your variety in life. Let High Arctic Fish & Seafoods show you how.

High Arctic's modern mobile fish and seafood supermarkets bring you the freshest frozen fish and seafood products from around the world. Why not make some extra room in your freezer for this tasty and delicious product be it shrimp, oysters, scallops, crab or salmon or any number of High Arctic's large selection and when the need or urge for variety whets your appetite toss it in the oven, whip up a tasty dipping sauce and enjoy. Visit High Arctic's mobile fish and seafood supermarket in your town this week.

Dewberry pays tribute to longtime businesswoman

By Phyllis Ewen

Wednesday, August 12, 1987, was the day chosen by the Dewberry Board of Trade to honor and pay tribute to Mrs. Henrietta Dennill. Mrs. Dennill has been in business in Dewberry for 59 years. As well as serving the people of the area in business, Mrs. Dennill has always been active in community affairs.

Jean Bowman, Dewberry Board of Trade's artistic member and hostess for the evening, seated the headtable guests beneath a banner reading, "A Special Tribute To You, Mrs. Dennill". An orchid corsage was pinned on Mrs. Dennill while seated in front of a beautifully decorated cake, made by Mrs. Winnie Mathison. At the headtable with Mrs. Dennill were her three children and their spouses, Gilda and Willie Klemik, Iris and Milo Hodgson and Headley and Annie Dennill, all of Dewberry; with special guests Bud Miller and wife Margaret of Kitscoty, Dr. Jim Miller of Marwayne with Rick Rewuski, M.C. and his wife Jude.

Two hundred and fifty friends, relatives and business customers attended the banquet held in the Lion's Hall to show their appreciation.

We were happy to have Mrs. Dennill's sister, Susie O'Neil with White Rock, B.C. and her brother Odell Curtis from Vermilion present for the happy occasion. Unable to attend were her sister Ada Lumley from Vermilion and her brother Alvin Curtis and wife Win from Dewberry due to illness. Mrs. Dennill's very special friend, Mrs. McKay, from Edmonton was also present.

PRESENTATIONS

Meredith Whiteside, vice-president of the Dewberry Board of Trade presented Mrs. Dennill with an engraved clock and said it was a great honor to pay tribute to a long time businesswoman in the area. As a member of the community she was always very interested in her town and willing to help.

Anne Elliott, arena booth representative, presented Mrs. Dennill with a crystal glass and thanked her for her many years of service and for her wise advice: "If you're doing your best, and know you are, close your ears and keep plugging."

Gwen Nelson, on behalf of the Lion L' Club, thanked Mrs. Dennill for her 23 years of dedicated service to the club, commenting she was a charter member who has perfect attendance and had been on the executive for 22 years. She presented her with a bouquet of yellow roses in appreciation. Note - at 83 years of age, Mrs. Dennill is still an active member of the Lion L's Club.

Mayor Gertrude Blacklock, on behalf of the Village, presented Mrs. Dennill with a bouquet of flowers and said how Mrs. Dennill never refused to lend a helping hand, and "... for all you've done, are doing and will continue to do for your community as long as you're able, God Bless You."

Friend of the family and long time resident of the area, Johnny Anderson, spoke of his friendship with Mrs. Dennill and recalled her love of dancing. He saluted Mrs. Dennill for her vigor, willingness, and friendship to all and to her great community work.

Physician and friend of the family for many, many years, Dr. Jim Miller, referred to Mrs. Dennill as a real solid person, with qualities of the pioneers - hard working, strong, durable, fair, honest - a gorgeous girl - sprinkled with a little bit of stubbornness. He said she is a leader in the community, and has been a devoted wife, loving mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother. "We salute her - we love her."

Doug Cherry, local MLA, referred to Mrs. Dennill as a "great lady" and an outstanding pioneer of our community and our great province.

Past MLA Bud Miller, thanked her for her association and friendship, stating she was a friend to everyone and someone we all look up to.

Friend of Mrs. Dennill's for fifty years and the U.C.W. representative, Elsie Jones, presented Mrs. Dennill with this year's 25 year pin, Mrs. Dennill became a life member in 1967.

Don Mazankowski, Deputy Prime Minister, sent his regrets as he was unable to attend. Rick Rewuski presented Mrs. Dennill with a plaque on his behalf.

Pat Calvert (nee Easton), from Lamont, spoke how as a child she admired Mrs. Dennill and of the wonderful friendship between the Curtis' and the Dennill's.

Neil Jones, President of the Dewberry Senior Citizens recalled briefly Mrs. Dennill's life from birth until the present. Neil then presented Mrs. Dennill with The Time Chronicle dated Wednesday, March 30, 1904 which was produced by computer.

On behalf of the grandchildren, Janine Dennill read the following poem as a token of appreciation of their grandma and presented her with a bouquet.

LOVE TO GRANDMA

A grandma is something with love in her heart,
She's gentle and ever so kind,
She fits in so well with those who are young

Because of her so alert mind;
She's always around when kids need her most

At drying up tears she's a whiz
And when it comes to scaring up sweets

She does it like nobody's biz;
She's spry as a youngster, her humor is grand

Her wisdom is something to hear,
She loves everyone and, in turn, everyone

Thinks that she's really a dear.

She really is something, truly unique
So precious, so cherished, so fine,
So here's to that wonderful person I love,

The grandma I'm proud to call mine.

As the violin is Mrs. Dennill's favorite musical instrument, Bill Brock entertained the gathering with a violin solo, "Three O'Clock In The Morning Waltz". Landon Bowman, also on the violin played an era song, "Good Night Irene". Daughter Iris, entertained with three of her mother's favorite songs.

Darren and Jolene Bowman entertained the audience with a humorous skit about the farmer and the part-slady at Dennill's Garage.

Coffee and cake brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

NOTE: When cleaning the hall a brooch was found. It can be picked up at the Post Office.

Helpful hints to a Great ALBERTA Break!

SEPT.

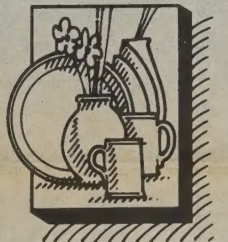

1-30

Alberta is alive with exciting activities! In our cities, towns, parks and playgrounds, there's always something fun going on! Share in all that our province offers. Plan an Alberta break today! Here are some great ideas to get you going.

1. East of Edmonton... Elk Island National Park has one of the highest wildlife densities in the world. Created in 1906, the Park was the first federal sanctuary for large wildlife including the wood and plains bison. The Ukrainian Cultural Heritage Village located nearby allows you to step back in time to a turn-of-the-century Ukrainian settlement.

2. Visit the Andrew Wolf Wine Cellars, and see the art of "Old Country" wine making. Traditional European wine making formulas produce varietal wines from California and Washington grapes. Tour the new winery located near Stony Plain where you'll find 118 year old oak casks. Winery hours: 10-9 daily, except Sunday.

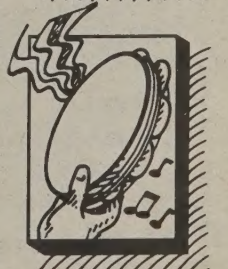

3. In Jasper National Park, Wapiti campground will close Sept. 8 for the summer but will be open for the winter, effective Oct. 13. Snaring, Wabasso, and Mt. Kerkeslin are open till Sept. 7, and Pocahontas will be open till Sept. 8. Honeymoon Lake, Jonas Creek and the Columbia Icefields campgrounds will remain open through mid-October (until snowfall).

4. Polar Park is home to a variety of cold climate animals, as well as Siberian tigers, cheetahs, camels, etc. 1,500 animals represent over 100 species from Canada, northern China and Russia. Most of the Park's animals are outside and can be viewed year-round, 8:00 a.m. until dusk, daily.

5. Stony Plain's Multicultural Heritage Centre features "ethnic dinners" every Thursday night and pioneer crafts and skills demonstrations every Sunday throughout the year. There's a handicraft store and art gallery, and the "Homesteader's Kitchen" serves pioneer and ethnic lunches daily. The Centre is open year-round, daily.
